Dürmentingen, January 2018. Individuality and personality: This is what distinguishes the new products we are presenting this year at the international furniture exhibition in Cologne.

Among these is VITA, our new living system which is highly capable of being modified to meet individual needs, and which turns almost all wishes for special living surroundings into reality. For real design fans, our SOMA Edition will offer new possibilities to set strong points of emphasis in their particular furnishing concept. And anyone who likes breaking with normal conventions will most definitely be able to express this approach with a side table from the T2 Line.

Thanks to new surfaces and materials, such as the veneer stained in silver-grey oak effect and the paints grey-white, coral and pistachio, all the other Kettaker systems can also be styled in an even more versatile way in the future.

Living system VITA. To allow you to get on with your life.

To reflect life and its many different facets, the living system VITA can be adapted without compromise to match the needs and ideas of its owner, always achieving this at the highest possible level in terms of aesthetic aspects and quality.

This success is ensured by the fine-gridded fundamental structure of vertical panels and base plates, which can be varied in almost unlimited ways. In addition, VITA can be individually equipped with a multiplicity of functions – such as doors, hatch covers or drawers – as well as different surfaces and materials. It goes without saying that it is also possible to integrate into it an extremely wide range of media technologies and lighting.

It doesn't matter whether it is used in the living room, the dining room, a hallway or perhaps a changing room, office space or bar area: VITA is a furnishing system which facilitates almost any form of living dream. It is a system which will accompany its owner throughout their life, with a timeless design and as an expression of its owner's individual personality.

SOMA Edition. The art object which you are allowed to touch.

Thanks to the delicately grooved look which extends across both the front face and the sides, the cupboard units of the SOMA Edition system bring a graphic effect to any room. Though they are limited to four size types (from two to four doors), the separate elements can be styled individually by the use of different colours or metallic tones and a selection of varied supporting foot units.

Each set of cupboards is a solitary exhibit which is intended to set a particular point of artistic emphasis.

Side table T2 – Break with the conventions.

While we are considering design objects with strong personalities, the T2 side table sets a counterpoint in graphic terms in the living room and exudes self-confidence. It is something which will catch everyone's eye, whether they find it attractive or not – and it will remain in their memories.
